To Our Valued Customers,

Effective immediately, Del Monte Foods will extend allocations on the following items across all channels due to increased demand, as well as a worldwide shortage on pineapple due to suboptimal weather and transportation challenges. We ask that you maintain orders to match your current ordering trends to minimize risk of service disruptions.

The following items will be allocated starting today:

Most items are being allocated through September and October, which bridges us to new crop production. More specifics are listed on the following page. Current allocations (approximately half of remaining inventory) are intended to carry our customers through the end of June. We will re-assess our inventory at that time and provide additional volume to cover July through the availability of our 2022 pack.

Your Del Monte sales representative will provide additional information on allocation volumes and will collaborate with you to determine the optimal action plan to manage against this supply challenge.

We at Del Monte understand that we are in unprecedented times in terms of customer demand and are fully committed to getting back to full supply as soon as possible.

We sincerely appreciate your continued support of Del Monte products.

Additional details are provided below. If appropriate for your needs, please consider the listed products as potential substitutes during this temporary allocation. Please note that inventory may fluctuate if we experience significant changes in demand:
