Dear Valued Customers,

As we navigate the start of the school year with you, current market conditions are affecting our production lines. We are currently experiencing supply issues on our Turkey Pepperoni items. Product is now slotted to arrive the week of September 27,th and we will resume production of these items as soon as it is received.

Unfortunately, they are not sure if this will be an ongoing issue. If you can switch to cheese or regular pepperoni products in the interim, please do so. We will notify you once that ingredient becomes stable again.

Know that we are doing our best to keep your students fed and looking for alternative options.

We appreciate your continued support!

Sincerely,

Vincent Nardone
