RE: PB+J Supply Issues

Classic Delight works hard to provide the highest quality sandwiches. We were excited last year to launch a line of peanut butter and jelly sandwiches and have enjoyed success with this product line. However, over the last month, we have experienced issues with our PB+J products that have affected our ability to meet our customers needs.

Due to changing priorities due to heightened demand from Covid, our current bread supplier has cut our weekly bread delivery by 50%. We have partnered with a new bread supplier and are working hard to get their bread qualified. We anticipate getting back into full production in the next few weeks; but want to ensure that the new bread meets our quality standards before moving into full-scale production.

Thank you for your business and your patience during these unpredictable times.
